GARBISCH IS HERO FOR ARMY

Field Goals Play Mighty Role in Gridiron Battle With Navy

NAVY. Captain Garbisch, who was the hero of the Army's victory over the Navy today, kicked a field goal in the second period and two in the third session.

The stadium, Baltimore, Nov. 29.—Brilliant kicking of field goals by Captain Garbisch gave the Army a victory over the Navy today. He kicked a field goal in the second period and two in the third session.

The final score was Army 12, Navy 0. Garbisch kicked his fourth field goal in the fourth period.

A field goal by Captain Garbisch gave the Army a 3-0 lead over the Navy at the end of the first half of their twenty-seventh annual gridiron battle, fought out today before a record crowd of 75,000 that included President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Garbisch's kick was made from the 37-yard line and came after the Army captain had recovered the second of two blocked Navy punts at midfield, followed by the Army charges that put the ball within scoring distance.

LYNN PAINTER FALLS TO DEATH AS BARREL TIPS

Walter Russell, 55, a Lynn painter, tumbled to death today when a barrel rolled over him on a second floor veranda at No. 65 Prospect street, Lynn, while he was painting the roof.

In his fall, Russell, who lived at No. 65 Prospect street, suffered a broken neck and a fractured skull. He was pronounced dead at Lynn Hospital.

The painter was standing on the barrel when it tipped. In attempting to regain his balance he went over the rail.

PONZI UNDER ARREST, RELEASED ON BAIL

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Department of Immigration officials here today said that it was hardly probable Canada would agree to allow Charles Ponzi to re-enter Canada in the event that his deportation from the United States is ordered.

Charles Ponzi, one-time wizard financier, was arrested by U. S. immigration authorities today charged with being in this country in violation of the law.

Twelve hours later he was released on bonds of $1,000, following a preliminary hearing at the immigration station before Inspector Ferri Weiss, who made the arrest.

Former Assistant U. S. Attorney General William H. Lewis, retained by Ponzi as counsel, secured a continuance of the hearing until a date to be set later, in order that he may prepare a defense.

Elaborate Wedding for Sylvia Cabot in Contrast With That of Her Sister

By BETTY ALDEN

WHEN Faith Cabot married Paul Pigors at King's Chapel some three months ago, the wedding was of the simplest sort imaginable. Of "fuss and feathers," as they say, there weren't any at all.

Today the former Faith Cabot's sister, Miss Sylvia Cabot, becomes the bride of Dr. Arthur M. Blake, and this ceremonial, it is to be an outstanding social event of the season.

Late this afternoon in the Unity Church at North Beacon a throng of distinguished folk will gather for the ceremony.

Philip Cabot of Milton is giving his younger daughter in marriage, and after the marriage rites are over, a reception takes place at the North Beacon country estate of Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Ames, Mrs. Ames, formerly the wife of Mr. Cabot, is the bride's mother.

Mrs. Paul Pigors attends her sister as matron of honor, and there is a quartet of bridesmaids, composed of the Misses Bettie Danahy, Ruth Forbes and Anne Wadsworth, all of Boston and the vicinity, as well as Miss Josephine Ruffel of New York.

The bridegroom has as best man his brother, James M. Walker, of Boston. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ransom Walker, of Chicago and Stockbridge.

Dr. Walker, a Williams College man of the class of '19, received his degree from the Harvard Medical School in June, and is now connected with the Massachusetts General Hospital. The corps of ushers is made up mostly of young men of the medical profession, including Dr. James C. White, Dr. Franklin Balch, Dr. Horatio Rogers and Dr. Richard Kneass.

At the time the announcement was made of Miss Cabot's engagement to Dr. Walker, she and her sister had an apartment together on West Cedar street, Beacon Hill.

Neither of the two girls cared much for the privileges of society. Both were keenly interested in hospital and social service work, and lived in town for that reason. Frequently they were visited at their Lincoln Hill abode by their father and their mother, Mrs. Ames.

When Faith Cabot married Paul Pigors—a young German—she had been living at the Brattle street home of the Richard C. Cabots—that was all there was to it. The announcement of the betrothal preceded the affair, as it did in the case of Miss Sylvia.

Since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Ames have, I believe, been making their home in Concord Hill, out Cambridge way. Now will Boston lose Miss Sylvia Cabot, for today's bridal couple are also to make their home in the city.

DOUBTLESS a host of fashionable will be on hand at the Boston Opera House next Tuesday evening, when Anna Pavlova opens her Boston engagement.

A few of the smart folk who have already made reservations for the Pavlova performances—which close the following Saturday—include the senior Mrs. George R. Peabody, Thornton L. Coolidge, Mrs. J. Warren Sturgis, Mrs. Robert P. Herick, Mrs. John T. Coolidge, Miss Hazel Thayer and Miss Alice Sleeper.

A HAND of those who follow the Myosotis Hunt Club habits with endless enthusiasm are attending tonight's subscription dinner at Hamilton.

The affair is in honor of Major James W. Appleton, master of the hounds at Myosotis, who has been away from the shore for a few weeks.

Like all events in which the Myosotis participate, the dinner is sure to be a jolly occasion. Among the guests for it are Freddy Ayer, Hyman T. Folson, James Parker, Gordon C. Prince and Alvin P. Sordwell.

The Gordon Princess, by the way, are to make their home in Boston this Winter. Following their wedding last May, they set out from Hamilton on their honeymoon on board an airplane. Mrs. Prince was formerly Miss Anna Agassiz.

Society Notes

MRS. RUSSELL G. FESSEN- DEN and her daughter, Miss Ruth Fessenden of Boston were in New York over the holiday. They were guests at the Vanderbilt Hotel, arriving there from Townsend, Mass.

Mrs. Harold Brown of New York and the Rev. Greenville Merrill of Stockbridge spent Thanksgiving with their daughter, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown at the latter's residence in Providence.

Mrs. John L. Thorndike and Miss Eleanor Parker of the Boston colony at Hot Springs were entertained there at luncheon the other day by Mrs. Seth Barton French.

Mrs. D. Hunter McAlpin, Jr., the former Miss Underwood of Boston, was among those presiding at the large tables at the large reception which her parents-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. D. Hunter McAlpin gave the other afternoon at the Colony Club in New York. The affair was to introduce their second daughter, Miss Elaine Rockefeller McAlpin.

MAYOR CURLEY URGES ALL TO SEE 'JANICE'

Declares in Letter to Mr. Hearst Film Is Great Civic Lesson

Mayor Curley, in a letter to Mr. William Randolph Hearst, expressed his hope that every American citizen and every American child will view Miss Marion Davies in "Janice Meredith," now showing in Boston at the Majestic Theatre.

The Mayor sees in this film of revolutionary times a civic lesson and considers it "an antidote to the growing forgetfulness and indifference to our herculean past."

The letter follows: "I am interested to learn that a dramatic film version of Paul Laurence Dunbar's notable historical novel, "Janice Meredith," with Miss Marion Davies in the title role, is being presented at the Majestic Theatre in this city.

The impending year 1925 will mark the 150th anniversary of the beginning of the American Revolution, the most momentous event in our human history and one of the most successful outcome has in the march of years done more to affect the fortunes of the whole than any other chapter of the human experience.

THE LITTLE PATRIOT MEETS A RED COAT

The establishment of the American Republic and the political independence of the American people are in its train a body of political principles and practices that have given the world Government of the People, for the People, by the People, the abolition of human slavery, the end of Kingcraft and in the widest sense of their influence touched the mind and people and revolutionized the political thought and life of the world.

As an American, I thank you for "Janice Meredith" and trust its success will be commensurate with its value to America and democracy and that antidote to the growing forgetfulness and indifference to our herculean past which are a real danger to human liberty.

Sincerely yours, JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

850,000 ALIENS SMUGGLE INTO U. S. IN YEAR

Secretary Davis Says Open Door Means Entry of 10,000,000

Boston, Nov. 29 (A.P.)—Speaking before the American Club where he was the guest of honor at luncheon, James J. Davis, United States Secretary of Labor, said he estimated that 850,000 emigrants had entered the United States clandestinely during the fiscal year 1923-4.

Secretary Davis said that much of this illegal immigration came over the Mexican and Canadian borders. He estimated that there were 10,000,000 Europeans who wanted to enter the United States, and declared that the country could not absorb this mass here economically.

Mr. Davis promised that when it returned to the United States, it would be a "booster" for the proof of extending American citizenship laws abroad from the income tax.

Did you ever hear of a man climbing a tree in search of a berry?

In some parts of Burma this is a common sight.

This picturesque province of British India has a population of over ten million people, most of whom are of the Hindu race.

Many strange customs and habits prevail among the brown-skinned, care-haired inhabitants of this mysterious land.

Along the fringing river in the central part of Burma, known as the dry zone, are many small villages.

Burmese people may be seen everywhere. They have made of bamboo leaves, with straw-covered roofs, fringed the shore. Palm trees tower above these huts. Their huts have hanging over and form a shade for the village.

These palm trees are very high. Today, the favorite drink of the Burmese is to be found in the tops of certain palms. When a thirsty Burman wants a drink he has only to climb to the highest branches of the swaying palms for it.

The Burman climbs his tree by means of long bamboo ladders. It is a dizzy climb. One ladder is fastened high up to the branches, and a second one connects with it, which enables the climber to climb to the top with ease. After the Burman is secured, it is called with water and forms a delicious drink.
